A large Porte Cochere and an 80mtr walkway protect patrons on arrival and departure at this well-known club.

The Porte Cochere was required to be high enough to accommodate large tour buses but have that light airy feeling only a tension membrane structure can give.

Lighting shone up into the fabric creates a soft glow to the entry and the club now has an aesthetically pleasing feature to welcome patrons and their guests.

The truss is nearly 30mtrs long and is retained at each end by two large stainless steel pins. Two curved rafters out from a large rolled universal beam turned up to act as a gutter help hold the truss in place.

The 80mtr walkway finishes underneath the Porte Cochere to give a weatherproof entrance to the club from the car park.
